INTELLIGENCE FUSION

Connecting Intelligence. Revealing the Bigger Picture

Forward Defense combines open-source and closed-source intelligence to provide organizations with a comprehensive understanding of the threat landscape.

By integrating intelligence from multiple sources, our solutions deliver the automation and analytics needed to identify threats, uncover hidden connections and support intelligence-led decision-making.

Situational Awareness & Intelligence-Led Decisions

Forward Defense helps organizations improve situational awareness by transforming fragmented intelligence into actionable insights.

Our approach enables teams to make informed decisions based on current intelligence rather than outdated assumptions.

By identifying relationships between seemingly unrelated information, intelligence fusion supports a more complete understanding of threats, activities and potential risks.

FORWARD DEFENSE

Supporting Critical Operations

Intelligence fusion capabilities can support a range of operational requirements, including:

- Active network defense
- Law enforcement operations
- Government intelligence activities
- Other government operations requiring intelligence-led decisions

By connecting information across different sources, intelligence fusion helps organizations discover hidden relationships and strengthen operational decision-making.
