

Intelligence Fusion: We combine open and closed source intelligence sources to provide our systems with a wealth of information.

Intelligence Fusion

We combine open and closed source intelligence sources to provide our systems with a wealth of information. From cyber threat actors, campaign data, terrorist intelligence feeds, media reporting, botnet data, social media, and many other sources of raw intelligence our systems provide your team with the automation and analytics needed to understand the full threat landscape.

Forward Defense discovers a clearer situational awareness of how your agency is empowered to make intelligence led decisions, taking actions based on current realities rather than outdated suppositions.

Whether as a component of active network defense, law enforcement operations or other governmental actions, intelligence fusion centers discover the hidden connections that support your operations.
